Dated, the 8th March, 2010

Name of the Appellant: Shri. U.C. Sharma

Name of the Public Authority: National Textile Corporation

Facts: ⁱ

1. The petitions filed by the appellant were heard on 24/2/2010 in absence of the appellant.
2. The CPIO stated that the appellant, against whom disciplinary action was taken by the respondent, has been putting up various RTI applications, with a view to harassing the officials of the respondent. In response to the various RTI applications, including the present ones, information have been furnished on the basis of available records.

Decision:

3. An information seeker should refrain from using the provisions of the Act for settling personal scores. A requester is free to ask for information as per section 2(f) and (j) of the Act. Since there are no provisions under the Act for redressal of grievances relating to service matters of employees, the appellant should seek legal remedy rather than raising issues concerning employees' grievances in the garb of seeking information. The appellant is accordingly advised to clearly specify the information, which should be available in any material form.

4. Since the appellant has not specified as to which information, as per section 2(f) of the Act, has been refused to him, these appeals are considered unnecessary.
